A History of Western Philosophy and Theology By John M. Frame

Christians should evaluate philosophy by biblical criteria. This will shed greater light on the developments in the history of philosophy and better prepare us for the intellectual challenges of our time. The fall of Adam brought intellectual as well as moral corruption on the human race, and the effects of the fall can be seen in the work of philosophers, most of whom try to understand the world autonomously—through reasoning apart from God's revelation. Some philosophers have appealed to God's revelation, but their work has often been compromised with the wisdom of the world. Revelation should inform reason, and not the other way round. In the past, even Christian theology was corrupted by the movement toward intellectual autonomy, creating the tradition of liberalism, which has unhappily dominated academic theology down to the present day. But there is hope—a new generation of Christian thinkers take God's Word seriously. Frame's unique new contribution augments that process.

Macie Austin:

As a college student exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just little students that has reading's soul or real their interest. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to generally there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful photos on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this era, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country.
